Diary

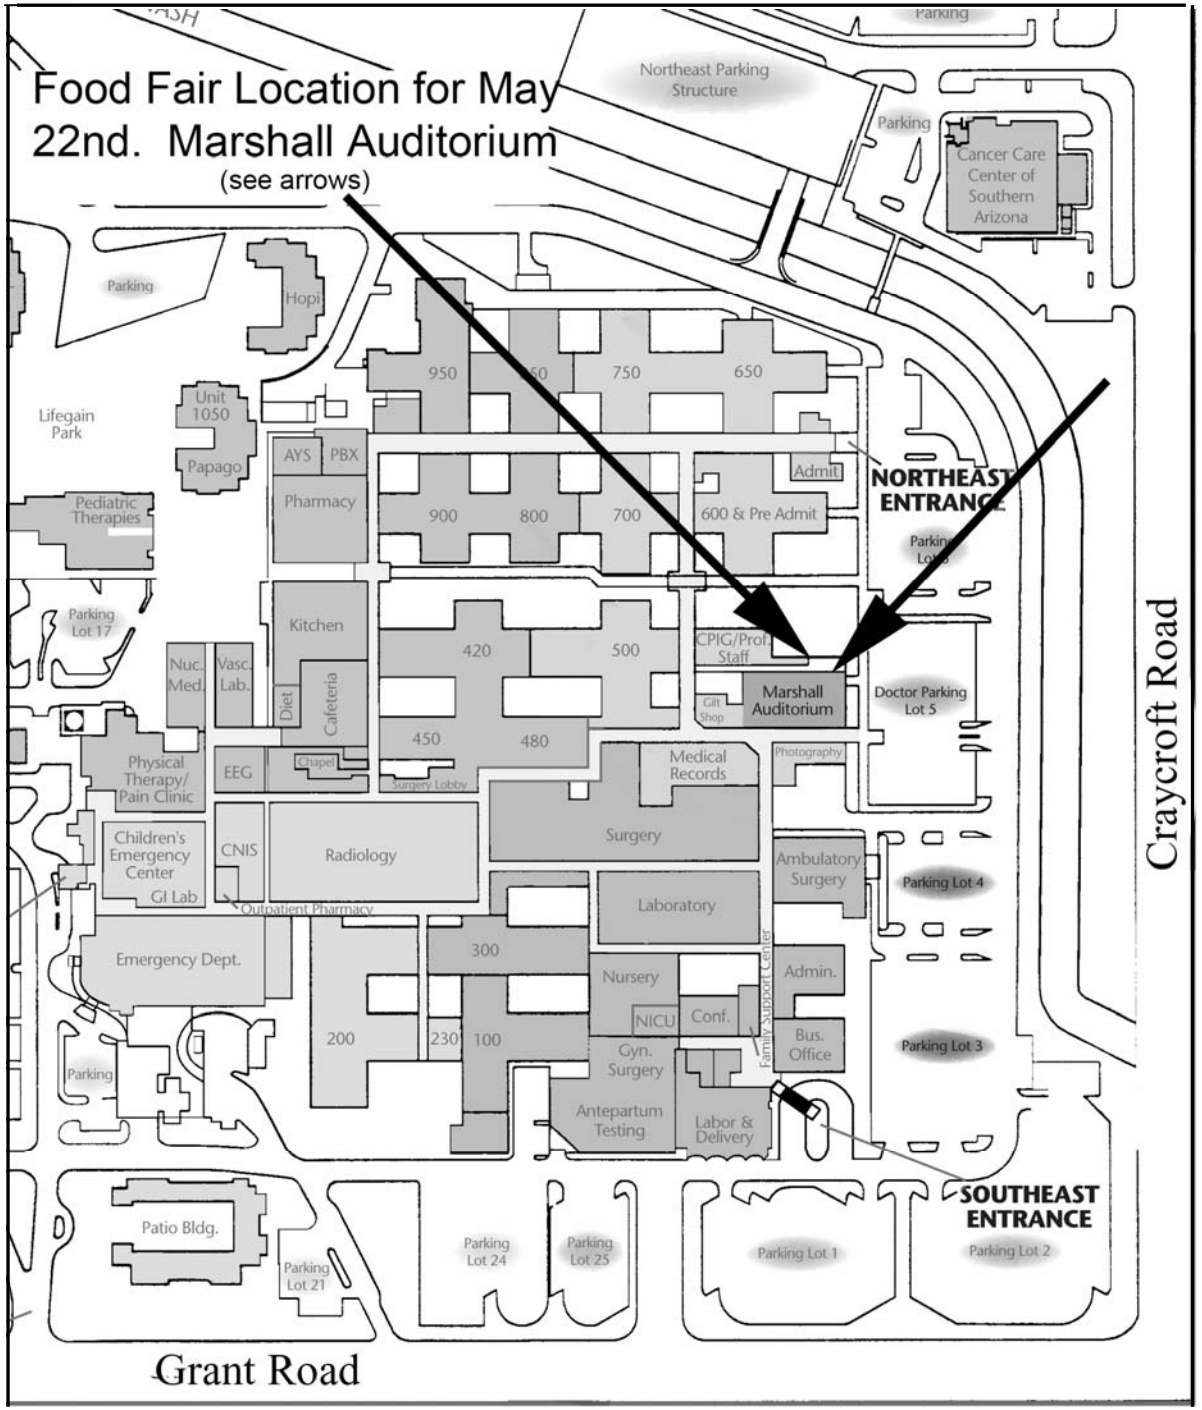
-tor's office, you can ask them for a copy of your lab work so you can hand-carry it to the specialist.


Take your diary to all doctor visits to use as a reference. The better historian you are, the better the doctor will be able to care for you, and avoid re-ordering tests that you have already had and you avoid the inconvenience and discomfort that goes along with that. If you are traveling, take your diary with you, and if your lab work was abnormal, carry the latest copy of that with you as well.
